

OUR MEMORIES

Dedication

We, the Class of 1961, wish to dedicate "Our Memories" to Miss Elaine Anderson, Mrs. Lawrence Farrow, and Miss Marion Briggs.

Our sincere thanks go to the three teachers who have helped us make our high school years successful ones.

To these teachers who have shown their deep interest and appreciation to our Class, we are truly grateful.

I, ROYAL ASTROLOGER, ON THE STARS OF CINDERELLA'S CROWN, DID FIND PROPHEMIC
FORTUNES FOR THE CLASS OF '61

The Fairy Godmother of our ball will have some left-over wishes. If the wicked step-sisters don't steal them, we believe Nancy in 1971 will be using three of the very best wishes in her happy home.

Shuffle, Royal Card Teller
the Magical Cards of Good Fortune

Gertrude Limoges, cast in the role of wicked stepsister Arabella, will, my cards tell me, be seen along the Milky Way, navigating the first submarine built for two. Free refreshments any time you wish, Gertrude, for you and that tall, dark stranger from the royal courts of Europe. Look, Royal Astrologer!

Chef Girlardee, or Pauline Messier as she was commonly known in N. C. H. S., I see concocting dainty little cheese dishes made from the rims of the unused moons. She has become the weight watcher's heroine, with her no-cal cheese cake.

Cool cat, Dick Hill, Royal Footman, I see you as the future proprietor of Stratojet Station No. 9,000,029, which rents and sells to daring space men the hottest, the fastest, the mostest jet screecher of all time. Keep those meteoric fuel tanks full, Dick!

Still rolling along on a royal crystal ball, we find our Court Jester, Robert Sheltra, up to his old tricks again. We find Robert just testing his new machine for the manufacture of Cupid arrows. This machine is for his own convenience. Everyone will love his sparkling eyes anyway, whether or not he shoots his arrows with true aim.

Isabella, Isabella, Cinderella's wicked stepsister! The cards tell me your Irish eyes will be smiling when you sail into Galway Bay in the summer of 1971. The National Geographic Society has finally decided to find out who really did throw the overalls into Mrs. Murphy's Chowder. Linda has this coveted assignment, a welcome relief from the little darlings in her classroom. "Erin Go Brach," Linda!

I, Carolyn Murphy, Royal Astrologer, see myself experimenting on a secret formula to prolong the lives of seniors in high school who are ground down to a mere powder by the mills of education. I've taken care of countless stomachs complaining of innumerable cokes, potato chips and sticky chocolate bars. In fact, with a formula for prevention of hiccups, I won my little black band.

On the farthest star I see you, Suzanne, wicked stepmother of Cinderella days, recording the active membership of mice living on Jupiter's moons. Your worst fears are that the cheese supply will run too low for the population explosion. In readiness you've stored 1,000,000 whoopie pies! Keep the count straight, Susie!

Claire Lunna, Castle Chambermaid, my cards foretell that you will try many things, but a permanent task will await you one day. Just as you climb the castle stairs for the 1,119th time the most handsome prince will appear to take you off to an enchanted island of the South Pacific.

Reg Woodard, Soldier of the Castle Guard, seen in the stars of Cinderella's crown, you are busily flipping hamburgers and sizzling hot dogs while orders come in without end from the rocket guinea pigs flashing by on the way to the moon. Your old basketball powers have really contributed mightily to your success. Keep 'em flipping, Reg!

Doorman Warren St. Laurent, we see you digging fox holes in the mud of Okefinokee Swamp with an alligator at your side and a diamond back looking over your shoulder. In a nearby tree a friendly vulture waits, just in case you're digging that foxhole in quicksand. Keep that shovel digging in!

Lady in Waiting, Dorothy Lu Nelson, your ticket to success lies on the first step of the nineteenth moonbeam. In a spider's web trapped in a corner there is a magic charm to speed you into the Office of Gold Reserves on Saturn. Another welcome surprise awaits you, but you'll just have to wait, Dottie. Off to your moonbeam!

Speaking of fashionable Dukes and Duchesses! Robert Hammond, Duke of Dreamcenter, was banished onto the Isle of Jersey! Guess what he's been doing all these years! He's succeeded in crossing Jersey cows and chimps. Now his prize cows ride their tricycles to the most distant pastures and return in time each afternoon to challenge Bob to a good game of baseball before milking time. Genius burns, Bob!

On the most sparkling point of a star, I see the lovely Duchess of Canterbell, standing before a marvelous new mirror which reveals every secret in the universe. Miss Sherry Thayer, as she was formerly known, is presently asking--

Mirror, mirror on the wall,
Who makes the most delicious apple pie of all?

Sherry is planning a delicious dinner for her chosen duke who has just returned from a tiring fox hunt in the bramble bushes. Green with jealousy, Sherry hears that a rival pie baker has stolen her secret. Bakers, beware her highness' wrath!

Royal Card Reader, I see your future brilliantly outlined in the heavens. You, Edna Sherlaw, are to win fame as the only person in the universe who has successfully recorded through the Farrow-dell Bookkeeping System the complicated record of all zebra stripes, leopard spots and gray hairs in teachers' heads. Keep the columns separate, Edna!

Hark! Hark! The Herald of the Senior Class of '61 reappears in the guise of Sgt. Bilko the Second. His latest pool is, we hear, growing madly. No wonder! Bilko had the brilliant idea of gambling on free passes to view the Lady in the Moon. Of course, Bilko has the minor problem of locating that lovely lady, but he's sure to think of some way to "weasel" out of it. Good weaseling, Bill!

Prince James, Regal Holder of the royal crown! Your star points to a destiny no less diamond-studded than that of Julius Caesar. You will climb the Matterhorn to rescue the lovely daughter of Prince Blunderbus. As a reward, this fair damsel will be Prince Blunderbus' gift to you. In addition, there will be a Rolls Royce, Cadillac, Lincoln, and Buick all rolled into one. Off to your castle, Jim!

Cinderella, proud possessor of magical glass slippers, how brightly your star shines! No more curls must you make for your wicked stepsisters! No more gowns must you iron! No indeed! You are the famous Madame Pompanglory, model extraordinary, of Thickandthin's Modern Shoppe. Through a magic formula you are able to transform all size 52 customers to a graceful size 9. Gossamer threads to you, Terry!

CLASS POEM

- Introduction: We're revelers at the fancy ball;
Through many miles we've journeyed to this hall;
We've had sad times and gay in getting here,
But we've reached the peak of our high school career.
- Freshman Year: Green as could be we straggled through the door;
We had years ahead; we were dreading those four,
First, Freshman Reception, a terror to all;
But most survived for next year's roll call.
- Sophomore Year: In our sophomore year the freshman we teased;
We were in power; we did as we pleased.
All went well with no exception;
We felt we'd really neared perfection.
- Junior Year: Now the junior year swings into view;
It's all very clear; it's all quite new!
We were with dates at our prettiest;
Of all students we were the wittiest!
- Senior Year: And now we're here at our Senior Ball;
The very fairest in the hall;
We marched ahead in royal glory;
Recorded here our graduation story.

CLASS SONG

Memories

We're the class of '61;
Now our journey's just begun.
We will always have a lot of memories.
Time has come to say good bye
To our dear old Center High!
We hate to leave our classmates and teachers, too;
Time has come to go out on our own,
Time to face the challenge of days unfolding;
But a star out of the blue sails right in to see us through.
When we wish upon a star, our dreams come true.

(To "When You Wish Upon A Star")

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-One, being of sound mind and body, do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

- C Claire Lunna leaves her ability to play basketball to Kaye Kinne. This ability added to Kaye's own should make Kaye a star player.
- I I, Bob Hammond leave to Ranny Adams my unquestioned ability to drive to North Troy. Free wheeling on weekends next year, Ranny!
- N Nancy Paxman leaves to Priscilla Warner the glitter of her diamond. We wouldn't want Priscilla to be worried next year.
- D Dick Hill leaves Ora Faye Kennison his mathematical formulas, predigested.
- E Edna Sherlaw leaves her typing ability to Sandra Woodard. Now Sandra can have the special position as Mrs. Farrow's secretary.
- R Reg. Woodard leaves Raymond Lanoue the privilege of more lively action in the halls when classes are passing.
- E Every dent that Jim Bliss has put into his Buick he cheerfully donates to Marion Percy to add to her collection when she becomes a member of the army of women drivers.
- L Linda Murphy leaves Linda Kilby any lost French verbs and Latin nouns to be catalogued correctly.
- L Lovable Warren St. Laurent bequeaths his twinkling brown eye to Maurice Mayhew to assure Maurice of being the biggest flirt next year.
- A Amy Ellen, lucky girl! To you Carolyn Murphy wills her happy smile especially to be used in Miss Briggs' study hall.
- W William Wright leaves Paul Meunier his extra curls. Paul, you can use two dabs of Bryllcreme then!
- I I, Pauline Messier, leave Donald Willey my ability to write poems for the "Centerite."
- S Sherry Thayer leaves Jackie Pope her formula for going steady. Don't worry, Jackie, about dates next year!
- H Heaps of stationery to Ethel Powers from Dottie Nelson. Ethel will need this supply for those long letters to Fort Dix.
- E Extra pieces of fudge, potato chips, and woopie pies are left by Suzanne Lanoue to anyone concerned.
- S Sympathetic Gertrude Limoges leaves Gary Leach AVOIR et ETRE, souvenirs of the 1961 French class.
- H Happy days ahead to Sue Ann Pettengill.
- A Abundant height to Thomas Ostrout bequeathed by Terry Tetreault. Swish goes that basketball!
- P Plainly worn steps to the office are left by Robert Sheltra for Vernon Warner.
- P Plenty of smiles and cooperation are left by the senior class of 1961 to Miss Anderson so that she won't forget them next year.
- I In sturdy cartons the seniors leave Mr. Zeno a year's supply of cigars for the office.

- N Nine beautiful wall murals we leave Miss Briggs, a gift from the '61 seniors.
- E Extra typists we leave Mrs. Farrow to allow her needed help on the "Centerite."
- S Salt, pepper, and a plate of mashed potato the seniors bequeath to Mrs. Conley. We don't want you to be hungry in the afternoons next year.
- S Some brand new band members we leave Mrs. Bashaw and extra special girls' basketball players to Mr. McDonald. Good luck!

Given under our hand and seal on the sixteenth day of June in the year of Our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-one.

|-------------------|--|-------------------|--|
| Sherry | To you we give a model home!
You'll never have to roam! | Nancy | A lovely veil and gown of white,
All set for your wedding night. |
| Linda | A rod or rule to keep pupils in line;
Students will find you a teacher divine! | Carolyn | Patients with ills?
Bottles of pills - white or black!
Up, patient! Off your back! |
| Dottie | Dottie, here's the telephone you need
To call, of course, your beloved Reed! | Gertrude | A car to get you to all your boy friends;
No scratches included or deep fender bends. |
| Robert
Sheltra | For you we order from Spiegel
A little Rabbit Beagle. | Claire | To you we give a bright flare,
To remind you of Billy's red hair. |
| Billy | To you, Bill, a model truck!
Hope that it will bring you luck! | Edna | To you a steno's pencil and a pad.
We hope you keep your boss most glad. |
| Pauline | Polly, a ladder by which you can rise;
To become more healthy, wealthy, and wise. | Richard | We leave you a gasoline can,
Fill it up now, Mr. Man! |
| Warren | To you we give Uncle Sam's flag;
Fine sergeant's stripes quickly to bag. | Theresa | To you we give a hair-drying tool;
To send you to beautician's school. |
| Reg | To you we leave a milking machine;
All sparkling, shiny, bright, and clean. | Suzanne | If you get lonesome for Saturday's work!
Here's a scrub brush! Don't you shirk! |
| Jim | To you we give a model plow;
Hope t'll help you out some how. | Robert
Hammond | To you we give a Jersey Cow;
She gives rich milk, we vow! |
